Dynamometer Adapter for Wheeled Vehicles

The design of a chassis dynamometer stand is needed to couple an engine dynamometer stand to a wheeled vehicle. The purpose of the stand is to accommodate automobile performance testing, as well as provide a test bed for the SAE club for the development of their Formula SAE cars. This automotive test platform, capable of accepting a wide range of real-wheel applications, should be reliable and accommodate the collection of various performance data.