Fabric Tester

Design a device/system for tensile testing of woven fabrics in the bias direction. Problems with current Instron methods are that one wants continuous yarns - but if testing bias, current grips won't allow that and still have a reasonable test length. Other approaches exist (cylindrical burst tests), but are difficult and require special conditions and equipment.